Abstract

Trimmer head for a portable engine powered tool comprising one or more cutting filaments stored winded on a related bobbin placed inside the trimmer head. The components in the trimmer head that are related to the unwinding of cutting filament from the bobbin are replaceable so that it is possible to alternate the type of activation for unwinding of cutting filament by changing selected components in the trimmer head.